Ohio Turncoat Hospitalized

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Korean War turncoat Lowell D. Skinner was committed today to Hawthornden State Hospital, a mental institution, for an indefinite period.

The ex-GI, who spent 10 years in Communist China, has been in Summit County jail since Dec. 10 for violating a two-year probation. The decision apparently removed the threat of prison for the 34-year-old former soldier.

Committal to the nearby hospital in Macedonia was ordered by Common Pleas Court Judge L. A. Lombardi and Probate Court Judge Nathan Koplin.

Judge Lombardi asked Skinner if he felt he needed psychiatric help, and Skinner replied, "yes."

Skinner, who has been arrested several times, was dishonorably discharged from the service. He was placed on probation a year ago for assault with a deadly weapon in a shooting incident in which he allegedly fired at two youths.

After admitting he violated the probation—mainly by being intoxicated—he was adjudged a violator last Dec. 10.

Skinner's attorney, A. P. Feldman said he hopes the Veterans' Administration will admit Skinner to a Veterans' Hospital for psychiatric treatment.

Since Skinner was jailed a psychiatrist had reported most of the former serviceman's troubles stem from allegedly shooting and wounding two American soldiers during the Korean War when his commanding officer panicked and ordered him to.

In a report filed with the court, Dr. Martin J. Gunter quoted Skinner as saying his commanding officer panicked and thought the Americans were Communist troops.

The experience has caused Skinner to suffer guilt and anxiety and most of his troubles can be traced to it, according to Dr. Gunter.

School Finance Crisis Is Target of Prayers

AMELIA, Ohio (AP)—Six church groups in the West Clermont School District have set Wednesday as a day of prayer for a solution of the district's troubled financial condition.

The West Clermont District with 41.4 per cent of the enrolled pupils in the Clermont County schools has been beset by financial difficulties after two defeats late last year by the voters of a 2.5 mill operating levy.

Ku Klux Klan Initiates 11 in Georgia Ceremony

By BILL SHIPP
Atlanta Constitution
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Eleven "alien" men, some wearing purple Halloween masks, were "naturalized" as citizens of the Invisible Empire at a secret Ku Klux Klan ceremony near Lithonia, Ga., about 20 miles from Atlanta.

The "aliens" were 11 men adjudged by the Klan to be "qualified" white Caucasian Americans. The Invisible Empire is the "government" within the government, operated by the Klan.

PROPHET GUARDED — Black Muslim "Prophet" Elijah Muhammad (left) denies any connection with the assassination of his former chief lieutenant, Malcolm X, extremist leader who was gunned down at a rally in New York. Dozens of Chicago police are guarding the home (right) of Muhammad in the wake of reports that followers of Malcolm X are setting up ambush executions for Black Muslim leaders.

Harlem Negro Black Muslim Center Burns Chief Guarded

Suspicious Blaze Tied to Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—A spectacular fire, preceded by one or more explosions, raced through the Harlem headquarters of the Negro Black Muslim sect early today.

The blaze, termed "certainly suspicious" by a fire official, gutted the top two floors of the four-story building in the wake of threats of violence against the Muslims for Sunday's slaying of rival extremist leader, Malcolm X.

A patrolman found kerosene-soaked rags in a building next door. The blaze, visible for dozens of blocks, brought large crowds out into 15-degree temperatures.

"I heard the explosion," said one elderly Negro woman. "I thought 'Oh my God, this is it,' and I threw myself down on the floor."

The building was headquarters of Muhammad's Mosque No. 7, New York headquarters for the Chicago-based black nationalist group headed by Elijah Muhammad.

Malcolm X operated from Mosque No. 7 when he was Muhammad's right-hand man.

Police pressed their search for several men in the slaying of Malcolm X, who broke with the Black Muslims more than a year ago.

One Negro, Talmadge Hayer, 22, was being held on a charge of homicide under heavy police guard in Bellevue Hospital's prison ward.

He was wounded, police said, in a exchange of gunfire over the heads of several hundred horrified persons who gathered in Harlem's Audubon Ballroom Sunday afternoon to hear Malcolm speak.

Despite additional clues found Monday, the two to four other men believed involved in the assassination remained at large.

Police said they had turned up no additional information from persons who had seen the tall 39-year-old Malcolm X shot on the ballroom stage.

His missing car, a blue 1963 Oldsmobile, was found Monday night 20 blocks south of the murder scene. Police fingerprinted the vehicle, and questioned storekeepers and residents of the area.

Malcolm's body was to go on public display at a Harlem funeral home this afternoon.

New Agency Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Montgomery, proposed today creation of a service agency to keep the governor informed on local government problems and serve as a clearing house for local government matters.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who is spearheading the voter registration struggle now in its sixth week, remained in Selma to organize the demonstration.

During the day, Negro volunteers devoted their efforts primarily to organizational work at the ward and precinct level.

Following the pattern of many political campaigns, they are recruiting prospective new voters house by house and block by block.

Amelia Boynton, a Negro businesswoman of Selma and secretary of the Dallas County Voters League, said King and his followers planned to meet at 4 p.m. at the church where other marches in the prolonged right-to-vote campaign have originated.

CHICAGO (AP)—Police intensified security measures over a six-block area of the city's South Side today amid reports that the leader of the Black Muslims was marked for death.

Detectives were posted at airports, bus depots and train stations looking for six men reportedly en route to murder Elijah Muhammad.

Squad cars cruised the area of Muhammad's 18-room mansion. The six blocks between the home and the Black Muslims' Mosque No. 2 were kept clear of suspicious persons.

The soft-spoken Muhammad expressed no fear of reprisal and denied that the Black Muslims were involved in the fatal shooting of Malcolm X Sunday in New York City.

New York investigators have speculated that the slaying of Malcolm may have resulted from the 15-month feud between the leaders of the Muslims and Malcolm's splinter black nationalist group.

Chicago police verified reports that six followers of Malcolm had departed on separate missions to avenge Malcolm's death.

Muhammad said the police weren't requested. Black Muslims do not approve of carrying weapons.

Ohioan Finds Water Sales Are Brisk

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—In an age when vending machines sell about anything, a Lorain County farmer may have come up with the last word in automatic vendors—one that sells water.

A nickel a gallon, and bring your own jug.

Newton Baus got the idea for the water machine when he stumbled on an artesian well ten years ago. The Bauses were drilling for water and hit on a spring that sent the water shooting five feet into the air.

Baus invested $10,000 in his spring house, which has four spigots and a coin vending machine to control the flow of water.

Business has been so lively, he says he plans to add a fifth spigot.

A National Vend magazine reports that it is the only vending machine in the country that dispenses water.

Baus has been bottling the water for home delivery for the past three years. He says it contains sodium, magnesium, calcium, fluoride, and chloride. The well is licensed by the state and is inspected regularly.

In a news conference Monday, Muhammad, 67, said, "We are innocent of Malcolm X's death."

"We have been making an investigation to find where the assassin came from. We cannot find him. He is not one of ours. I don't believe any of my followers were there."

The Black Muslims claim the Negro race is the superior race and call the whites "white devils." Muhammad preaches separation of races, and in his teachings abhors integration.

The exact membership of the organization has never been released.

Malcolm X broke with the Black Muslims when he was the heir apparent to Muhammad.

"Malcolm was a victim of his own preachings," Muhammad said. "He preached violence."

Businessman Is Beaten Unconscious

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A New York City businessman and director of Ranco, Inc., of Columbus, was taken to University Hospital in poor condition today after being found beaten and unconscious in an alley several miles north of the downtown district.

Detectives said it appeared Robert Livingston Ireland III, 44, of New York, had been robbed and left partly unclothed in frigid weather. He is being treated for exposure, shock and cuts and abrasions on the legs and face.

He was unconscious and unable to tell police what happened to him. Detectives said he apparently been in the alley beside a garage for several hours with most of his clothes missing. Later a pile of his clothing was found on a sidewalk not far away.

Ireland was identified from papers in an otherwise empty wallet. Authorities said he is a partner in Brown Bros. Harriman of New York, and had come to Columbus to attend a meeting of Ranco's board of directors. He is a son of the president of Hanna Co., of Cleveland.

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Negro leaders got ready for a twilight march on the Dallas County Courthouse in their right-to-vote campaign today and kept alive the threat of nighttime demonstrations.

New Winter Jolt Hinted

Snow Forecast In Ohio Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Weather Bureau indicated today that Old Man Winter was about ready to hurl another jolt at Ohio.

Cloudiness held temperatures to moderate levels over the central and southwest counties of Ohio during the night, but northern sections of the state, under clear skies, had readings near zero.

Early morning temperatures included Youngstown and Toledo, zero, Columbus 10 and Cincinnati 22.

Snow was forecast for Ohio tonight and Wednesday. Areas near the Ohio River were expected to get snow mixed with rain or sleet.

Temperatures today were to be mostly in the 20s, with little change in readings tonight. The mercury was expected to climb into the 30s on Wednesday.

Snow fell from Montana and northeastern New Mexico to southern Minnesota and northwestern Illinois. The snow was expected to extend across the upper Great Lakes region, with two to four inches expected from the central Plains northward.

Winds up to 50 m.p.h. cut visibility to near zero in parts of western Kansas and eastern Colorado. The Weather Bureau issued blizzard warnings for the central Plains and hazardous driving and local blizzard warnings for northeastern New Mexico and the Oklahoma-Texas Panhandle.

Arctic air invaded the storm zone and temperatures dropped to below zero from Montana and northeastern Wyoming to northern Lower Michigan. Readings were more than 20 below in northern Minnesota.

It was cold in most of New England and upstate New York with readings near zero in many areas. A storm, fanned by strong winds Monday, dumped up to a foot of snow off Lake Ontario on an area of about 250 square miles in an easterly line from the Oswego-Henderson harbor area. Stiff winds caused severe drifting of snow, reduced visibility, slowed traffic and caused many highway accidents.

The cold air from the North dipped southward into northern Florida with freezing marks reported in Atlanta, Ga. Early morning temperatures ranged from 21 below at International Falls, Min., to 73 at Key West and 72 at Miami Fla.

Northern Roads Slick

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Primary and secondary highways have scattered icy spots, are partly snow-covered, slippery and wet in spots in the northern third of the state.

Countywide Fire Radio System Appears Likely

Members of the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners have indicated they will approve erection of a base station for a countywide fire radio communications system.

A request for the base station was made before the sessions today by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and representatives of the various volunteer fire departments in the county. All emphasized that a countywide system would be invaluable to firefighting operations between departments with mutual aid agreements.

An outline of the countywide proposal was drawn last week when Sheriff Radcliff met with area fire protection officials. The results were presented today to Commissioners Lloyd Melvin, Wayne Hines and Charles Morris Jr.

Erection of a base station, the initial step in setting up the countywide radio system, would cost the county about $1,150. According to sponsors of the program, this would constitute Pickaway's only financial obligation.

THE SOLONS indicated the necessary money would be made available, although formal action was not immediately taken.

Tentative plans call for the base station to be set up at the sheriff's department. This would include erection of a 35-foot tower. Radcliff said a remote control unit now owned by the county could be utilized in order to save additional cost.

Department radio band. However, this procedure was ruled out by the Federal Communications Commission in 1963.

A representative from a national radio firm was present for today's session. He said it would take from six to seven weeks for complete installation, including final approval by the FCC.

Spokesmen were to meet with Circleville Fire Department officials later today concerning the city's possible participation in the communications system.

TAKING part in last week's initial meeting with Sheriff Radcliff were representatives from departments in Tarleton, Williamsport, Ashville, Commercial Point and Circleville.

Department representatives today repeated the need and importance of a countywide system. They said they feel the installation of a base station will make the proposal work.

Noted Lady Driver Loses Her License

OAKMERE, England (AP)—Britain's best-known woman driver has reached the end of the road, for a year at least.

Magistrates slapped the year's ban on Margaret Hunter, 66, Monday after finding her guilty of colliding with a tree.

Miss Hunter agreed the tree was stationary and that the 100-foot skid marks on the road were probably hers. She blamed the accident on a mysterious "propelling force" that took control of her car.

Constable Thomas James said he had asked what sort of force that was and she replied: "It was as if a jet force pushed me off the road."

"I just felt something from behind," Miss Hunter told the magistrates.

"I'd like to know who is doing it and why. The police should find out."

Miss Hunter first came to public notice in 1962 when her driving instructor jumped from her car in a busy street, yelling, "This is suicide."

She failed a series of tests for a license but eventually got one by establishing residence in Ireland, where no test was then needed. It was this license that the magistrates confiscated.

Miss Hunter demanded that the clerk of court be arrested for theft of her license. She said she would appeal her sentence.

"The nation will not believe all this rubbish," she declared.

Texas Explorers Sure Of Fabulous Treasure

SALADO, Tex. (AP)—Treasure hunters armed with dynamite and visions of fantastic riches probed deeply today into a legend-shrouded pile of rocks near this central Texas hamlet.

The small band of explorers believe that deep within the 250-foot-high limestone hummock—called a mountain locally—lies a room concealing diamonds, coins and bars of gold and silver.

They contend that only four feet of rock now separates the adventurers from a Spanish treasure valued at hundreds of millions of dollars.

"If the legends hold true, there should be more here than we've got in the U.S. Treasury," proclaimed one.

"You are standing above a room which contains $200 million in gold bars," another told a reporter.

With a sweep of his arm, H. D. McCord of Dallas gestured across a map and declared: "There is gold and metal all through here. Diamonds are over there and in different parts."

McCord, a big, affable man with thick, bushy eyebrows, directs the operation that reportedly has cost $200,000 to blast through more than 100 feet of solid rock.

According to local lore, Spanish conquistadores mined gold and silver along swift, troublesome Salado Creek which winds around this jagged heap of rocks. Reputedly they fashioned the ore into bars and hid them.

There are other stories that gold stolen from the Comanches was buried in these hills.

13,300 Mph. Launch Made

Polka Dot Vehicle Tests Materials

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A "polka dot" space glider successfully rocketed over a blazing 13,300-mile-an-hour sub-orbital course today to test materials and techniques for the future spaceships which will land like airplanes.

As the sleek Project Ascle glider blasted skyward, it shed a unique plastic "raincoat" which had been placed over it to protect it from a driving rain.

A Thor-Delta rocket propelled the craft into a rain-dripping sky at 9:36 a.m. and the vehicle quickly disappeared into low-hanging clouds.

The winged research glider, whose surface was speckled with about 2,000 tiny dots of multicolored heat-sensitive paint, darted to an altitude of about 39 miles and then made a fiery, screaming dash back through the atmosphere.

A small stabilizing parachute popped out at an altitude of 75,000 feet and a main chute unfurled at 25,000 feet to ease the six-foot, 1,175-pound glider into the Atlantic Ocean about 2,750 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

The Air Force reported at 10:15 a.m. that a search plane had zeroed in on a radio beacon in the vehicle and that Air Rescue Service divers had jumped into the sea to secure it.

But later an official said this report apparently was the result of garbled communications and that the glider had not been sighted. He said four aircraft and two ships were conducting a search in the landing area.

Even if the vehicle were not recovered, officials said that excellent radio data received throughout the flight would give scientists nearly all the information they sought.

Lost would be the "polka dot" paint experiment which would require visual examination.

Windsor To Face Surgery on Eye

LONDON (AP)—London newspapers reported today that the Duke of Windsor has a detached retina in his left eye. The Daily Express said it was considered certain that he would have an operation to refix the retina to the inside of his eyeball.

A spokesman at the London clinic said the 70-year-old duke had a good night and is "very comfortable." He said he could not confirm the diagnosis reported by the papers.

The duke will be 71 on June 23. Surgeons in Houston, Tex., removed a swollen section of an artery from his abdomen two months ago. He and the duchess returned from the United States to their home in Paris early this month.

Drama, plot and cast resemble an incredible fairy tale. Principal characters are: McCord, a liquor store and restaurant owner who says he personally has contributed more than $40,000 to the project.

R. L. Wells of Dallas, a ro-tund, cigar-chewing construction company owner who says, "It's there, friend—I'll tell you that or I wouldn't be here."

Les Guerra, mustachioed Tex-as AM graduate who says he stumbled onto the treasure chamber in 1957, spent two days wandering through a maze of tunnels and barely escaped.

Francis E. Richey, a self-styled soldier of fortune who joined the party a month ago. He is superintendent for a Houston-based firm named International Explorers.

★ ★ U.S. Strategy Is Unchanged

Viet Nam Coups Taken in Stride

WASHINGTON (AP) — The most profound political change in South Viet Nam in more than a year seems to have been pulled off so far without upsetting basic U.S. strategy for the conduct of the war there against Communist forces.

Amid signs that the struggle has reached a critical stage, marked by expanding military action and peace probes on both sides U.S. officials are said to be glad that the revolt which resulted in Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh's ouster as South Viet Nam's military strong man was not more dramatic.

Concern continued, however, over whether the Armed Forces Council, which removed Khanh, could now stabilize the situation or whether the new regime would be harassed and destroyed by such familiar sources of instability as dissident military leaders, disaffected students and politically powerful Buddhist priests.

The United States, officials have made clear privately, will work with whatever government can effectively exercise power in Saigon from day to day. Officials here also insist that the United States was not behind the ouster of Khanh, who had held power since he seized control Jan. 30, 1964.

Half a dozen eruptions of political strife in Saigon during Khanh's period of supremacy had put a succession of governments into office but his leadership persisted with more or less effectiveness for almost 13 months.

His ouster by the council, which appointed Maj. General Tran Van Minh as commander in chief Monday, distinguishes the present shakeup in Saigon from most of those which have gone.

This element would be reversed if Khanh returned, but his rejection by his fellow generals after they had saved his position from a revolt Friday seemed unlikely to be overcome.

Suits Claim Auto Yards Violate Law

Two lawsuits have been filed in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court seeking to do away with two auto junk yards in Scioto Twp.

The Scioto Twp. Board of Trustees has filed the legal action asking for an injunction against the operation of junk yards operated by William and Donald Toole and by Wayne Beard.

The petition claims that the defendants are in direct violation of a zoning ordinance that classifies the defendants' real estate as "farm residential."

The trustees are asking for perpetual mandatory injunction that would require the defendants to cease the use of their property in violation of the zoning resolution.

The suits were filed separately by Robert H. Huffer, local attorney. Bead is the defendant of one suit and the Tooles are defendants in the other.

Dr. Dillon Explains His Resignation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Lowell O. Dillon, chief of the Ohio Division of Mental Hygiene, said today he resigned the post because he could not "countenance" new methods and policy changes contemplated by the head of his department.

Dillon handed his resignation to Martin A. Janis, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, last week. It touched off reports of some dissension in the department and possible other resignations to come.

Dillon also described as "comic opera" at least one phase of the troubles in the department. He said at first he had stepped down to become superintendent of Columbus State Hospital because he understood Eric Johnston was resigning in sympathy with his own resignation. But Johnston had changed his mind without telling Dillon and withdrew the resignation.

The commissioner called that a "comic opera" situation in that he attached to his letter of resignation to Janis a copy of Johnston's letter, and, in his letter asked for Johnston's post.

After learning of the Johnston withdrawal, Dillon said he and Janis decided that Dillon should become superintendent to fill a vacancy at the Rollman Psychiatric Institute, Cincinnati.

Dillon stressed he did not quit, as Janis said, because Janis was pressuring him for results in the mental hygiene program, but because Janis, a layman, was bypassing him in operation of the mental hygiene division.

North Viet Nam rejected charges that it had used the ship to send arms south. Radio Hanoi said the ship incident was a "fabrication by the U.S. imperialists and their henchmen aimed at slandering the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam."

In Moscow, Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky warned the United States that the Viet Nam crisis threatens a great war in which "imperialists and the whole system of capitalism will find their grave."

Manlio Brosio, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, urged all members of the alliance, and especially Britain and France, to support American policy in South Viet Nam.

The U.S. ambassadors to Laos and Thailand continued talks in Saigon with Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, reviewing the general situation in Southeast Asia.

Trips Abroad Discouraged

U.S. Tries To Halt Drain on Its Gold

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has told passport offices around the country to do nothing that might in any way encourage Americans to travel abroad while the nation suffers from a gold drain.

Among other things, the offices are being told to take down any posters or other displays that encourages foreign travel. However, passports will remain available to citizens who want them, and the number of applicants is expected to increase.

The State Department's directive is a follow-up to President Johnson's Feb. 18 balance-of-payments message. Johnson suggested that Americans "see the U.S.A." on vacations rather than unload their dollars on foreign junkets.

Noting that American tourist spending overseas climbed $600 million in the last four years, Johnson said "foreign travel should be encouraged when we can afford it — but not while our payments position remains urgent."

This part of the presidential message is now being brought to the attention of the State Department's passport offices in a memo from Abba P. Schwartz, administrator of security and consular affairs.

State Department offices in 10 American cities have been doing a booming business in passports. About 3,800 court clerks throughout the nation also are authorized to receive passport applications.

Johnson asked Congress to cut in half the present $100 duty-free allowance now given returning Americans on goods they buy abroad. State Department employees have called off one of their vacation charter flights to Europe this year.

Whether either the President or the State Department thinks Americans actually will cut back overseas tours is another question.

Under Withholding Tax Relief Talked by Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressures are mounting in Congress to help taxpayers owing Uncle Sam more than was withheld from their wages even though the Treasury says their plight has been exaggerated.

Several bills have been introduced to allow extra time, beyond the legally fixed April 15, for such deficiencies to be made up.

The House Ways and Means Committee, which handles such legislation, said no hearings have been set on any of these. However, it was understood the committee was informally checking to see whether the situation might call for action next month, after work on President Johnson's health-care bill is completed.

Appearing before another committee Monday, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said technicians of his department believe the underwithholding may total $400 million to $500 million, in contrast with earlier guesses of more than twice these figures.

Dillon said he does not think this indebtedness is a threat to the still-rising economy or a serious hardship to many persons.

There is a certain amount of underwithholding every year because the pay-check deductions are based on a flat percentage while income tax rates increase as an individual's income rises. Last year special circumstances resulted in still more.

The full percentage reduction in withholding, to reflect the income tax cut voted by Congress, was put into effect in March. The tax reduction went into effect in two stages, the second applying only this year.

Dillon said it appears that many taxpayers realized the situation they might find themselves in and voluntarily arranged to have their withholding stepped up. Total taxes withheld by employers and paid in to the Treasury, he said, were $700 million more than had been expected.

Ku Klux . . .

(Continued from Page 1) wooden cross before an altar in the middle of the room. The altar held a U.S. flag, a glass of water, a Bible opened to the 12th chapter of Romans and a rusty iron sword.

The biblical passage was St. Paul's admonition to live righteously.

All objects on the altar were pointed out during the ceremony as representing Klan "virtues" — the Bible for religious zeal, the water for purity, the flag for patriotism and the sword for courage and willingness to fight. The red-robed kladd of the Klan — the bouncer — shouted sharp military orders to the initiates as he march then single file, then double file around the room about six times.

Periodically during the march, the Klansmen whistled at them, apparently as some kind of secret sign.

The initiates were halted in front of four Klan officers — the exalted cyclops — klavern or chapter president; the kludd — chaplain; the kolkard — lecturer; and the klaff — vice president. The initiates were given instruction in "klan-kraft."

The initiates were ordered to defend the United States with their lives. "To protect the chastity of our white womanhood" and "faithfully strive to maintain white supremacy."

They were asked: "Are each of you native-born, white gentle citizens?"

They were told they would be given a test in the coming weeks.

Mr. X gave each initiate a chance to back out. They all said they would stay.

Some of the new Klansmen may be given "a special degree" known as the Royal Order of the Yellow Dog.

Both Mr. X and the grand dragon declined to discuss it except to say, "It's a side degree."

"That's the one where we're liable to lose somebody," the grand dragon added.

Asked to stand and give his impression of the initiation ceremony, one of the new Klansmen said: "I don't talk very good, I thought you'd whip a couple of niggers."

Mr. X told the gathering: "The Klan has been pushed around for 35 years. But the Klan is not going to be pushed around any more."

This drew a loud chorus of "amens."

Appropriations Bill Comes Up In Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House votes today on the first appropriation bill of the legislative session now in its sixth week of work.

The $7.5 million measure was drafted to make up public school foundation and transportation deficiencies for the period ending June 30.

House leaders also scheduled a floor vote on a proposal to create a 15-member Ohio Arts Council for the development and preservation of the state's cultural heritage.

Both measures have administration backing.

In rapid fire action, the House passed and sent two bills to the Senate Monday night.

One would name a span under construction on Ohio 2 across Sandusky Bay "The Thomas A. Edison Memorial Bridge" in honor of the Milan-born inventor.

The other would require holders of 10 per cent or more of stock in domestic insurance firms to make monthly reports of their holdings starting next January.

A Senate "fair housing" measure was among more than a score of new proposals offered in both houses.

Sponsoring the measure to ban racial discrimination in the sale or rental of residential property were three Democrats. They were Sens. Frank W. King of Toledo, minority floor leader and Ohio AFL-CIO President, Charles L. Pancake of Nelsonville and Robert Blackburn of Dayton.

The Ohio Committee for Civil Rights Legislation promptly endorsed the bill. "There is great grass root sentiment in Ohio in favor of fair housing legislation," said Russell Jones of Columbus, executive director of the committee.

The measure would apply to anyone with authority to transfer or rent dwellings. Exempted would be owner-occupied, two-family residences and rooms in an owner's home. The Ohio Civil Rights Commission would administer the act.

A similar proposal died in a house committee during the previous regular legislative session but the pending bill was given a better chance of approval by backers with possible modifications.

The Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee opened hearings on a requirement for humane slaughtering of livestock. Ronald Harsha of Dayton, general agent of the Montgomery County Humane Society, testified in support of the measure. Similar proposals failed in previous legislative sessions.

Newly proposed legislation would Deny automobile driving licenses to new Ohio residents whose permit were revoked or suspended by other states.

Require Ohio payment for hospital and medical insurance of state employees, with permission for local governments and school districts to do so.

Allow municipal courts to require state hospital examinations for persons convicted of sex offenses under municipal ordinances.

Require fingerprinting and picture taking of juveniles accused of felonies.

Create a Hamilton County consolidated municipal court with countywide criminal jurisdiction, except in suburban Wyoming.

Nation Mourns Passing of Noted Judge Frankfurter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter is dead of a heart attack at 82 and President Johnson in grief has praised him as "one of the great figures in legal history."

Chief Justice Earl Warren in a statement of mourning called Frankfurter "a great man of the law" and said "our nation is much richer because of his long and productive life."

Frankfurter, who stepped down because of poor health 2½ years ago after serving on the high court for 23 years, suffered a heart attack at his home here Sunday. He was taken to George Washington University Hospital, where he died late Monday.

His ailing wife, Marion, was confined to the family home and was informed of his death by family doctors. The Frankfurters had no children.

Frankfurter was born in Vienna, Austria, on Nov. 15, 1882, and was brought to the east side of New York City when he was 12. His father was a fur merchant. Young Frankfurter attended the College of the City of New York and continued his education at Harvard University Law School, where he received his law degree in 1906.

He returned to Harvard in 1914 as a law professor. Later he recommended many of his former students as "brain trusters" for President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

Frankfurter delighted in recalling that he was in risunder, wearing, dressing for dinner, when Roosevelt telephoned him on Jan. 4, 1939, to tell him that the next day he would name him to the Supreme Court to succeed Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo.

At that time Frankfurter was considered a liberal, but in later years he was considered a member of the conservative bloc of the bench. Frankfurter's own view was that conservatism and liberalism had nothing to do with judicial decisions.

Two years ago — on his 80th birthday — The Times of London paid editorial tribute to him. It said, "If any man has a right to be regarded as a citizen of the world it is he. Whether, when on the Supreme Court, he was a liberal or a conservative, or both, now matters little. He has always been a fighter for truth."

Frankfurter had no hesitancy about referring to his Jewish religion and once commented in an opinion:

"One who belongs to the most vilified and persecuted minority in history is not likely to be insensible to the freedoms guaranteed by our Constitution." He added: "But as judges we are neither Jew nor gentile, neither Catholic nor agnostic. As a member of this court I am not justified in writing my private notions of policy into the Constitution no matter how deeply I may cherish them or how mischievous I may deem their disregard."

He was credited by some observers with having had a major influence in the Supreme Court's 1954 decision banning racial segregation in public schools. Some said the court's unanimous decision was a result of Frankfurter's arguments in favor of a formula permitting gradual desegregation rather than court orders demanding immediate enforcement.

Frankfurter was a peppery figure through his 23 years on the high court, sitting on the edge of his chair with his eyes sparkling behind his pince-nez as he rattled off questions to attorneys and fired verbal darts at his fellow justices.

In one of the last arguments he heard, a lawyer called an earlier Frankfurter opinion "brilliant." When the lawyer started to explain it, Frankfurter snapped, "You may assume I remember it."

His last major opinion was a monumental, 64-page dissent in which he objected to the court's 6-2 ruling that federal tribunals may decide on the constitutionality of distribution of seats in state legislatures.

In August 1962, four months after suffering a stroke that impaired his speech, Frankfurter wrote a letter to President John F. Kennedy. With sadness, he told the president he could no longer carry his share of the Supreme Court's burdens.

Kennedy voiced for himself and all Americans "our respectful gratitude for the character, courage learning and judicial dedication with which you have served your country over the last 23 years" and named Arthur J. Goldberg to take his place.

On this note of gratitude, Felix Frankfurter ended his career on the Supreme Court he loved so well.

HOT BARGAINS FOR COLD SHOPPERS — Yesterday's bitterly cold wind and wintry weather didn't stop bargain hunters. Most local merchants offered specially priced merchandise in observance of Washington's Birthday. Circleville Hardware, E. Main St., advertised bargains at specific times during the day. The crowd here was waiting to take advantage of the 1 p. m. special.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — For 23 years Felix Frankfurter was a completely dedicated justice of the Supreme Court.

He stuck rigidly to what he called judicial restraint at a time when the court under Chief Justice Earl Warren was moving toward a greater participation in American problems and a willingness to assume responsibility in solving them.

Frankfurter, who died Monday at 82, urged deference to the wishes of Congress and state legislatures, on the theory the people eventually would pressure them into doing what was needed, even though they had avoided what was needed for years.

Two views, Frankfurter's and Warren's and two opposition positions of these men tell the story:

In 1962 the court ruled, 6 to 2, that apportionment of seats in state legislatures to give voters a fairer representation was subject to the scrutiny of federal courts.

For over half a century some legislatures had declined to reapportion themselves even through their state constitutions called for such action every 10 years.

Back in the 1940s Frankfurter had urged the court to stay out of such a "political thicket," and when it did step in in 1962, still opposing it, he said: "In a democratic society like ours, relief must come through an aroused popular conscience that sears the conscience of the people's representatives."

This ignored the reality that in some situations politicians in power can ignore the people.

Warren, who was with the majority in calling for reapportionment, had given an answer to Frankfurter's kind of reasoning in an article in Fortune magazine in 1955:

"Our judges are not monks or scientists but participants in the living stream of our national life, steering the law between the dangers of rigidity on the one hand and of formlessness on the other."

"Our system faces no theoretical dilemma but a single continuous problem: how to apply to ever changing conditions the never changing principles of freedom."

It was the greatest irony of Frankfurter's life that when President Franklin D. Roosevelt put him on the court in the New Deal days of 1939 he was not only a hero to liberals but was denounced as a Red by the far right.

By the time he left the court 2½ years ago liberals looked upon him as a conservative, and he was when compared with some of the other justices.

There was another contradiction in his life. He was a man with many friends, well beloved, and a delightful conversationalist, as a recording of his conversation in a book, "Felix Frankfurter Reminisces," shows. But as a writer of legal opinions he was long winded and complex.

He was a lively man, an emotional one and a great questioner. Hecker and lecturer of law years before the court, so much so that he sometimes got on the nerves of the other justices.

But this cannot obscure Frankfurter's concern for justice. He was with the majority of the court in the civil rights decisions and he was concerned for justice to individuals although he sometimes let abstractions get in his way.

Chillicothe Post Office Bids Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department announced today it is seeking competitive bids to build and lease the new post office in Chillicothe, Ohio.

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski said that under the department's lease - construction program, the site selected on the northwest corner of West Fourth and South Walnut streets will be assigned to the successful bidder who will purchase the property, construct the building and lease it to the Post Office Department for a basic period of 20 years.

Gronouski added that because Chillicothe is situated in a redevelopment area eligible to take part in the new Area Redevelopment Administration's program, "the project will be of particular value. . . it will provide needed employment during the construction phase and it will provide needed employment during the construction phase and it will add to Chillicothe's modernization efforts to attract new industry."

ELDERCARE

...better care than Medicare

Here's why the Herlong-Curtis Eldercare Bill, HR 3727, is the best answer to the health care needs of people over 65

MORE BENEFITS FOR THE ELDERLY

Eldercare would provide a wide range of hospital and medical services for the elderly — much more than Medicare.

|                                 | ELDERCARE | MEDICARE |
|---------------------------------|-----------|----------|
| Physicians' Care                | YES       | NO       |
| Surgical Costs                  | YES       | NO       |
| Drugs — In and out of Hospital  | YES       | NO       |
| Hospital & Nursing Home Charges | YES       | YES      |

LESS COST TO THE TAXPAYERS

Eldercare offers more care for the elderly who need help, but would cost less because it does not provide benefits for the wealthy and well-to-do. Eldercare would not require a new payroll tax. It would be financed by federal-state funds through a program that already exists.

By contrast, the Medicare tax plan would increase payroll taxes to provide benefits for everyone over 65, the wealthy included. Furthermore, the Medicare tax would hit hardest those least able to pay. The $5,600-a-year worker would pay as much tax as the $56,000 executive.

Your doctors, who care for the elderly, support Eldercare because it also assures free choice of physician and hospital . . . provides for protection through Blue Cross, Blue Shield and health insurance policies . . . and lets people over 65 qualify for benefits before illness strikes — without a welfare type investigation.

Sounds Familiar

The handsome old lighthouses that used to guard U.S. coasts were darkened long ago in favor of lightships. The floating beacons, it was argued, were cheaper to maintain. And in spite of getting rammed ever so often by incoming liners, they have remained in style and operation while stately shore-based monarchs are relegated to the status of historic sites.

But it seems that fashions in coast guarding are fickle. And now there is talk of retiring Ambrose Lightship and replacing it with a lighthouse. The proposed structure, a four-legged tower in 40 feet of water, will bear no resemblance to old Barnegat Light. But its beacon will be more powerful than the Ambrose and, it is argued, cheaper to maintain.

Perhaps some of the more ancient mariners will be forgiven for suggesting that this is where they came in. Because it is.

Pity the Poor Modern Child!

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Pity the poor modern child!

He is becoming the most prominent victim of our fumbling attempts to create a more livable world.

Most of us aging codgers tend to low-rate the youngsters of today.

We enjoy the pleasant assumption that life was tougher when we were children. We love to bore our own young with all the hardships we knew in childhood—how many miles we had to walk to school, how many chores we did around the home, how early in life we earned our own spending money by delivering newspapers, selling magazines or sacking potatoes all day Saturday for the corner grocery store.

To hear us tell it, the fabled labors of Hercules were as nothing to the work we accomplished in adolescence. And each of us, looking nostalgically back at those arduous times, never forgets to add piously:

"But hard work never hurt any kid. It was good for me. It made a man of me—not a cry baby."

Most of this is pure piffle. Every generation as it grows older likes to brag about how much rougher a time it had than the generation that succeeds it.

When we recall the ordeals of our youth, we forget one advantage of that privileged time. Kids were left on their own more. They had more freedom to make their own fun.

America was less crowded then. There were more woods to explore, more room for digging caves, more creeks to fish in, more ponds to swim in.

The blessed innocence of childhood lasted longer. Boys and girls didn't ape adulthood at such an early age.

We often complain about the ingratitude of young people today. Well, if we were honest with ourselves, we could readily find reasons why they should resent us rather than feel grateful.

If they were pampered and overprotected, who is responsible? They aren't. We are. If we do too much for them in some ways, in other ways we do too little for them.

One of the worst crimes against our young is that we rob them of security in childhood. We make them old too soon.

Almost as soon as a baby learns to toddle, his parents start dining into him the importance of getting into the right college.

Modern children are tense and insecure because they have a schedule as tight as that of a busy executive. All their activities are arranged for them. They are supervised almost to death. They have no time left for one of the chief industries of childhood—wonder and idle dreaming.

What we are doing is transferring our own fears and pressures to our children. What we need to do now and then is to let up on them, give them a day off to themselves, and let them enjoy their childhood while they still have it.

Hoosier Pride Eroding?

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Five years ago, when hardly anybody had heard of Barry Goldwater, this city was the center of a big conservative revival. Hoosier pride in self-help was riding high. The city Redevelopment Commission had rejected the idea of federal aid, yet it was busy with local funds clearing up slums and providing new housing that lower income families could actually afford to rent. Ralph Husted, a big wheel in the Indiana Power and Light Company, was working hard as the leading spirit on an autonomous school board to give the schools some honest text books in the field of history. The local Citizens Gas and Coke Utility, a publicly owned body, ran its own good non-political show under five trustees, as free of political patronage as is the federal TVA.

It was explained to me during a visit to Indianapolis in the early Nineteen Sixties that local insistence on non-political autonomy for the town's various boards, commissions and authorities dated back to the Nineteen Twenties, when the Ku Klux Klan threatened to engulf Indiana. The local citizens, horrified at the idea that the Klan might take over in politics, decided to put their community services beyond the reach of partisan officials. What followed was a history of municipal administration that has been singularly free of patronage grabs. And the Indianapolis schools have been among the best in the country.

Now, however, all this may be in process of changing. Indianapolis is in Marion County, which is the seat of a so-called Young Turk movement in the Democratic Party that is bent on sweeping away the whole tissue of state and local independence. The Young Turks of Marion County got a lot of seats in the new Indiana legislature last Fall as a result of the Lyndon Johnson sweep. They have declared war on the elaborate check-and-balance system that has kept Indianapolis health and welfare activities out of city hall politics, and are currently sponsoring a group of "grab" bills that will turn control of practically everything in the town over to party rule. That the nature of a city government can be changed by a vote in the State Legislature may seem strange, but it is apparently a fact of Indiana life.

The first independent municipal body to feel the teeth of the Young Turks in the Legislature is the Citizens Gas and Coke Utility.

In less than thirty minutes of floor activity the Young Turks in the Indiana House voted the other day to give the mayor of Indianapolis the power to appoint and remove the five trustees of the utility and to seize the company's earned surplus for the city's general fund. Passage of the bill in the State Senate seems absolutely certain as this column is being written. The present Mayor of Indianapolis, John Barton, is not a partisan character, and even the opposition newspaper editors call him a conscientious public servant. But the point is that mayors come and go, and if city hall has the power to change the guard in municipal services every time there is a new regime, the worst sort of patronage scandals is apt to flower. Remembering the days when the Ku Klux Klan threatened to dominate everything, some of the older citizens of Indianapolis shiver.

By John Chamberlain

What is starting in this business of wiping out checks and balances in Indiana can hardly be stopped unless there is a resurgence of the state's traditional conservatism. The Indianapolis Redevelopment Commission, which has raised $13 million in entirely local money to put through twelve renewal projects over the past twenty years, is threatened by bills introduced by the Young Turks at the State legislative session. What will happen when the bills are passed is a foregone conclusion: the Redevelopment Commission will practically be commanded to take federal funds to bulldoze stretches of Indianapolis into rubble at a much faster pace than plans and capital for rebuilding can be had.

So the old Hoosier spirit of independence is being eroded away. Maybe it was inevitable. But nothing ever moves in a straight line for long, and local conservatives are warning themselves with the hope that the Young Turks will overplay their hand.

MAX SCHULMAN reports that a scientist on the payroll of a big cigarette company has come up with the greatest filter yet. There's only one little bug in it that's holding up production so far. They can't get any smoke through it.

Draftees at one induction center were asked to state in writing what activities they had pursued in private life. One husky lad confounded the authorities with this line: "I sometimes participated in sports at Yale."

"You seem to have considerable intelligence for a man in your insignificant position," sneered a self-satisfied lawyer to a witness who was giving him unexpected trouble. The witness replied quietly, "If I wasn't under oath, sir, I'd return the compliment."

Last Christmas, a dear, trusting little girl walked up to a department store Santa Claus and said, "Hello, Mr. Claus." Santa answered sourly, "Go way, little girl. I'm not on till the afternoon shift."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The halfway house for patients just released from mental institutions is a considerable, constructive venture of many dedicated, kind people.

Patients, isolated from society, protected from the pressures of the outer world, often find a comfortable refuge and security in their confined hospital existence.

They count the hours until they will be liberated and once again allowed the luxury of free communication with friends and family. The passing days are filled with anticipated happiness. But as the time approaches, there are also moments of palpating fear.

"Will I again be able to live in the harried world of competition? Will I again be accepted without stigma in my job and community? Will I carry the emotional scars of hospital confinement? Will I be terrorized by the fear of recurrence?"

These are only a few of the fears and anxieties that beset an individual on his discharge from a mental institution.

Halfway houses are being created for the purpose of making a re-entry to society a less arduous one. Not only do the halfway houses seek to support and strengthen the patient's dignity and self-assurance, but they are also designed to safeguard and maintain the progress that was made during hospitalization.

The stress and tension of homecoming is sometimes too great a strain on the emotional balance of the recently discharged patient.

The halfway house slowly reintroduces the individual to society and provides a gentle beginning for the process of rehabilitation. Job placement and training help to ease the transition from a sheltered environment to active community life.

There are now about 50 halfway houses actively functioning all over America. Some are under the jurisdiction of the Veterans Administration. Others are supported by the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration. Many others are privately endowed by mental health groups and philanthropists.

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Public spending is expected to top $200 billion for the first time this year. That will bring it to about 29 per cent of the nation's total output of goods and services.

The public sector — federal, state and local government expenditures — is playing ever more important a role in determining whether times are good or bad. And increasingly almost every major fiscal decision — whether it be spending or tax cutting — is based to some extent on its anticipated impact on the economy.

Government spending crossed the $100 billion mark in 1953. Then federal spending was about 21 per cent of the Gross National Product — the GNP or total national output of goods and services — and state and local government spending together about 6 per cent.

Since 1953 GNP has increased from $365 billion a year to the $660 billion predicted for 1965. Actual federal cash spending has gone from $77 billion to an estimated $127 billion, and state and local outlays from $24 billion to an estimated $76 billion this year.

Thus the big increases, both in actual outlays and percentage of the nation's economy, have been at the state and local levels. They are expected to take an even larger percentage of the GNP this year and next, while the federal outlays although increasing in cash are expected to be smaller in percentage.

The very growth of the economy itself has brought this about.

NICHOLAS DRIVE

The Nicholas Drive Parent Teacher Association's February meeting centered around a discussion by Fritz Jacobs, superintendent of Circleville Schools, on the education system for Circleville students.

Jacobs answered questions on the overall program as submitted by parents from Nicholas Drive. He discussed topics on school safety, educational TV, automobiles and the student, starting age of children, high school curriculum and facilities for the new school, teacher salaries and new teaching techniques. The meeting was concluded with a general discussion on the roll of teacher and parent in the education of the student.

In the field of school safety, Superintendent Jacobs stressed that the problem does not exist only around the school area but during that period while the children are going to and from the school. The problem of safety around the Nicholas Drive School with the presence of the new high school was discussed in detail.

A committee of interested personnel of the city will review the general problem of safety to ascertain definite steps to be taken in this field. Necessary outside consultants will be obtained as required.

Educational TV has a definite position in the teaching procedures for Circleville, according to Jacobs. The teachers are now using educational TV as a supplemental tool for teaching at elementary schools of Corwin, Atwater, High Street and the High School. The school board is considering this supplemental teaching aid throughout the Circleville system.

Interest of the Nicholas Drive PTA also centered around the curriculum for the high school. Jacobs pointed out the school board will provide facilities for sciences in the new high school which should encourage additional interest in these science fields. In addition, the emphasis on science in the junior high teaching is increasing. The school system is striving to prepare the student in all fields of interest.

The new method of teaching mathematics in elementary grades was discussed. Jacobs stated that the new approach to mathematics is now being presented at Atwater School thru educational TV over a 10-week period. All parents are invited to attend these descriptive courses. The exact time and day may be obtained through the superintendent's office.

Following the regular meeting, the PTA group had a chance to discuss these items of interest with Jacobs personally. Mrs. Carl Heffelfinger, program chairman, expressed thanks of the Nicholas Drive PTA to the superintendent for his excellent presentation.

Aerospace Industry Has Changed Rapidly Since World War II Days

EDITOR'S NOTE — The giant aircraft-aerospace industry is being wrenched by changing military, commercial and scientific demands. AP business news writer Roger Lane talked with industry leaders in visits to their plants throughout the nation. In the following story, first in a series of four, Lane tells what has happened to the industry since the days of Rosie the Riveter.

By ROGER LANE

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Aircraft factories in the United States built 295,000 plants—all military—for $40 billion during World War II.

Uncle Sam has spent roughly half that much in the past 19 years on three basic flight vehicles for national defense—the B52 bomber and Minuteman and Polaris missiles. He took delivery on just 2,350 units.

In today's commercial flight the standard jet transport does the work of 20 of yesterday's redoubtable Douglas DC3s, carrying six times as many passengers 3½ times as fast.

The comparisons bespeak an enormous telescoping of striking power in the one case, of economic productivity in the other.

And they focus attention on problems of the evolving aircraft-aerospace industry, one of the nation's vital resources.

This sprawling industry has little resemblance to the heyday of Rosie the Riveter when auto-style assembly lines filled urgent orders from the government.

Great energies were diverted starting in the early 1950s to the then novel arts of missiles, and in the late 1950s to manned space flight, each calling for custom work of extreme reliability.

In its present stance, the aircraft-aerospace industry draws nearly $7 of every $8 income from the U.S. Treasury, the lion's share for defense-space projects.

Now, with defense spending nosing downward after a four-year surge and big-scale production programs tapering off, an old debate recurs:

Is serious trouble ahead for aerospace? Or is this feast-or-famine industry just hitting another downward dip in a roller coaster course?

There's tongue clucking among management consultants, analysts in Wall Street, the government and universities over predicted cutbacks in defense spending.

But heads of the aerospace giants, men toughened by lurches in the past, vow confidence in their own companies.

Yet unwritten history in Vietnam, Moscow, Berlin, Africa or Red China may supply a firmer answer, something not clearly discernible now.

Since early 1963, employment has gone downhill about 7 per cent annually. The Aerospace Industries Association of America now estimates employment will have declined by June to 1,045,000, down about 200,000 from the peak. In this period dollar volume has held nearly steady.

But more than jobs is at stake in the long run, because the aircraft-aerospace industry:

1. Stands as the foundation of national defense.

2. Harbors the country's richest pool of scientific and technological talent, men who chart tomorrow's wonders—2½-hour transatlantic flights, farming the oceans, and making fresh water from salt water, and travel to the moon.

3. Forms the backbone of U.S. commercial aviation supremacy, and, as a seller of planes abroad, is a major plus factor in the nation's balance of international payments.

4. Ranks No. 1 as an industrial employer, and generates sales of $20 billion a year.

5. Maintains 120,000 engineers and scientists, consumes possibly 60 per cent of federal spending of research and accounts for 35 to 40 per cent of all research and development funds spent within the entire economy.

6. Swings a heavy weight in the economies of Southern California, Connecticut, the San Francisco area, State of Washington, Kansas, Texas and New York and is climbing in importance in the South.

Concern about the future began with signs of relaxing East-West tensions two years ago.

2 Men Hurt in Fire In Downtown Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A city fireman suffered burns over much of his body and a young man suffered smoke inhalation during a two-alarm fire at the three-story Brant Building in downtown Columbus Monday night.

Bela Peterfy, 41, was admitted to Grant Hospital with third degree burns on his face, hands and legs, suffered in a flash of flames soon after he arrived on the scene. A hospital spokesman said he was in satisfactory condition. Robert Throckmorton 24, was treated and released at the hospital for smoke inhalation.

Worry increased when former Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric said a cutback of 25 per cent in defense spending was possible by 1970.

North American Aviation Corp., famed as producer of World War II P51 fighters and other warplanes, now draws half its income from research and development—over a billion dollars a year. North American is playing a leading roll in the moon landing effort.

In 1963, Lockheed Aircraft derived 40 per cent of revenues from this source.

Renewed focus on the industry comes at a time when such leaders as North American, Lockheed, the Boeing Co. and McDonnell aircraft were at or near peaks in profits, employment or both.

But it was noteworthy, too, that builders of World War II aircraft such as the P47 Thunderbolt fighter by Republic; the B26 Marauder medium bomber by Martin, and the B24 Liberator heavy bomber by Consolidated Vultee, virtually or completely had abandoned aircraft manufacture.

In the commercial airliner field, only Boeing remained an unqualified success, although Douglas, hard hit a few years back, was rallying.

Inadequate sales of passenger planes in recent years knocked Lockheed and General Dynamics out of the field.

Next: As industry sees it.

Zanesville Contractor Dies at Age of 87

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The founder and president of the Paul Contracting Co. of Zanesville, William J. Paul, died here Monday night in Good Samaritan Hospital. He was 87.

Paul was taken to the hospital earlier in the day after becoming ill. The company that Paul founded in 1921 has built many public school buildings, mostly in central Ohio.

Slashed Student, 16, Loses His Right Eye

CLEVELAND (AP) — David Duncan, 16, an honor student at Max S. Hayes Trade School who was slashed by a man on a bus, lost his right eye Monday. Duncan was reported in fair condition at St. Vincent Charity Hospital after two hours of surgery.

James Williams, 41, of Cleveland, accused of stabbing Duncan, was bound to the Cuyahoga County Grand Jury Saturday on a charge of cutting to wound.

Dear Abby: One-Sided 'Arrangement'

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what the punishment is for a man and woman who are caught posing as Mr. and Mrs. in California hotels and motels. My husband and his girl friend (who is also married) posed as man and wife in Sacramento, La Jolla and Palo Alto. We have three children. Two are teenagers and my husband had the nerve to tell our teen-aged boys to stay away from a certain girl because she wasn't "nice." Meanwhile, he travels all over California committing adultery with this tramp. I know I have grounds for divorce, but I would rather stay married to him and put her in prison. Can this be arranged?

NOT FOOLED

DEAR NOT: Unmarried couples posing as man and wife in hotel and motel rooms are law-breakers in every state. The punishment varies, the publicity and fallout on family and friends is always regrettable. Unless the girl friend kidnapped your husband, the guilt must be equally shared.

DEAR ABBY: I pray that the 14-year-old, "Can't sign my name," needs your advice and tells her mother or the police before it's too late. I was a widow with two daughters, 8 and 10, when I married what I thought was a fine and honorable man. I found out too late that he had molested my 10-year-old since the first year of our marriage until she was 13. She was afraid to tell me because he threatened to kill her if she did. I suspected she was pregnant and the very day I found out she was, that contemptible creature tried to molest the other girl, then 11 but thank heavens SHE told me in time. I had him arrested, and filed for divorce. He is now serving a prison term and we are divorced - but good! I shudder to think of what may happen to that child if she doesn't tell her mother or report the man to the police at once. You have my permission to print this if you think it will help someone, but please don't use my name.

TRYING TO FORGET

DEAR ABBY: The letter of the little 14-year-old girl who couldn't sign her name touched my heart because I could have written such a letter many years ago. Abby, I am sure we would all be horrified to know the number of girls who have had to face this problem. And sadly enough most of them are afraid to tell anyone.

I am convinced that if young girls would wear a cross, or a Star of David, or some kind of religious medal where it could be plainly seen by any man who looks at her, it might make him think twice.

NIGHTMARE IN MY PAST

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I would be writing a letter to DEAR ABBY, but I just have to have an answer. I am a 16-year-old junior and I would like to know why boys pay good money to get into a dance and then just stand around. Please put your answer in the paper as there are about a million girls who share this problem.

HOPKINS, MINN.

DEAR HOPKINS: They want to be near a girl just in case they get the courage up to ask one of them to dance.

Canton High School To Resume Thursday

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Canton McKinley High School students will resume class in the fire-damaged building Thursday.

Students in grades 9 to 12 were ordered back after an inspection Monday showed the building to be safe except for one wing. The wing suffered heavy damage in the fire Saturday. Some eighth graders who had been attending classes at McKinley will be assigned elsewhere.

6 Weeks of Liquid Diet Ends in Space Experiment

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Four college students who went on a liquid diet for space science got solid food—and their first bath in six weeks—today.

The quartet is the first to test a new liquid formula, much like a housewife's diet drink, which may someday feed American astronauts on long space flights. The young men spent six weeks in isolation. Half that time they ate only the diet drink — in vanilla, chocolate, cherry and strawberry flavors.

For 28 days, they were confined in a "space tank" to simulate the conditions in a space ship on a long flight.

The volunteers, all Ohio State University students, are Brooks L. Harrop, 25, Amlin; John T. Kelley, 25, Willoughby; Norman H. Gary, 22, Delaware and Gerald P. Petersen, 22, Euclid. Each will get $1,000—less income taxes—for the test.

Results will be passed along to National Aeronautics and Space Administration planners preparing for the first two-man orbital flight this spring in Project Gemini. But a spokesman at the Medical Research Laboratory at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base here said the information is likely to be more useful on longer flights, such as the planned voyage to the moon in Project Apollo.

The primary purposes of this test, seventh in a series here, were determining the liquid food's acceptability and ability to keep men healthy. A secondary purpose was testing personal hygiene—the effects of going without daily shaving or changing clothes for six weeks.

Previous diet tests have stressed frozen dehydrated food. This one used that space age food too, but emphasized the liquid concentrate described as resembling a high calorie version of a commercial diet product produced from milk.

The men could talk with researchers outside and had television to help occupy their free time. But they were assigned tasks and tests to keep them busy much of the time.

NAIA, Mid-Ohio Stars Selected

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Central State's Marauders, who finished the regular season with a perfect 21-0 mark and are ranked second among the nation's small-college teams, completely dominate the NAIA District 22 all-star squad.

The Marauders, who have been named to play in the post-season NAIA tournament, hold three of the five first-team berths on the squad announced Monday night.

The selections were made by the coaches of the state's 12 NAIA member colleges—Central State, Ohio Northern, Findlay, Wilmington, Bluffton, Ashland, Cedarville, Defiance, Malone, Rio Grande, Steubenville and Wilberforce.

The all-district club: First team — Dozier Carter, Cedarville; Ken Wilburn, Darius Cunningham and Ted Day, Central State; Larry Davidson, Ashland.

Second team — Paul Dillon, Rio Grande; Al Knott, Cedarville; Lonnie Lynn, Wilberforce; Lynn Martin, Bluffton, James Carder, Findlay.

Honorable mention: George Widunas, Mike Smythe and Jerry Carder of Findlay; Ed Bryant, Avery Godfrey, Edward Waller and Jerome Tillman of Central State; Stan Kaiser of Ohio Northern; Paul Shahan of Defiance; Bob McCurley of Wilmington; Jerry Burry of Bluffton; Gary Walthall of Cedarville; Gil Ray of Ashland and James Marshall of Rio Grande.

At the same time, coaches of the five Mid-Ohio Conference member teams selected their all-star team:

Dozier Carter, Mark Combs and Gary Walthall of Cedarville; Lynn Martin, Bob Raber and Jerry Burry of Bluffton; Gil Ray and Cliff Prindle of Ashland; Jon Hopkins of Wilmington, and Paul Shahan of Defiance. Honorable mention: Bob McCurley and Ron Daniels of Wilmington; John Bricker and Max Fetterman of Defiance.

Clay, Liston Each To Get $800,000

BOSTON (AP)—When Cassius Clay finally defends his heavyweight title against Sonny Liston May 25 each will receive around $800,000.

The date for the rescheduled match at Boston Garden was announced Monday. Originally set for last Nov. 16, the fight was postponed when Clay underwent emergency surgery for a hernia.

Harold Conrad of Intercontinental Promotions, Inc., said the delay actually will benefit the box office, adding: "We expect this fight to go over $5 million, which would be a record. Our thinking last November was that it would go a couple of hundred thousand under $5 million."

All contract stipulations agreed to last September remain in force, including the fact each contestant will receive 30 per cent of the net of all income related to the fight. Thus the $800,000 figure Conrad mentioned.

The announcement was made almost a year to the day after Liston yielded the championship to Clay seated on a stool in his corner in Miami Beach. The reason given was a shoulder injury but the result was a low ebb for boxing.

Southern League Honors 3 Ohioans

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Three Ohioans, who went south to play their college basketball, have been named to the 1965 All-Southern Conference basketball team.

Dick Snyder, of North Canton, a 6-foot-5 junior on Davidson's conference leaders, and Tom Tenwick of Lakewood, a 6-foot-4 senior for Richmond, were on the first team named today. Don Davidson of Salem, also 6-foot-5 but a senior on Davidson's sixth ranked club, was named to the second team.

Ellwood Is Named To OU Grid Staff

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Frank Ellwood, a former Ohio State University grid star who until recently was an assistant coach of the Buckeyes, has joined the football coaching staff at Ohio University.

Ellwood, who also served as an assistant at the Air Force Academy for three seasons, fills the spot left open last week when Nick Mourouzis was named to John Pont's staff at Indiana. Ellwood, who quarterbacked the 1955-56 Buckeyes, will be the offensive backfield coach.

Bucks Snap Losing Streak; OU '5' Rolls On

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Notable streaks—both winning and losing—either grew or were snapped in Ohio college basketball games Monday night.

Ohio State snapped a four-game losing streak and plunged Michigan State deeper into the Big Ten basement, 101-90; Ohio University won its 24th game at home, beating Loyola of Chicago, 84-76; Bowling Green handed Marshall its seventh straight loss 114-93, setting three new team records along the way; Rio Grande closed its season by snapping tough Cedarville's four-game win streak, 97-91; and Thiel of Pennsylvania snapped its losing streak at 31 games, at the expense of Malone, 87-77.

The only Ohio college games where no streak of note was involved saw Baldwin - Wallace fight off a closing surge to beat Kenyon, 83-81, in the Ohio Conference, and Wilberforce edge Tennessee State 97-93, in an inter-sectional game.

Michigan State's loss to Ohio State was its tenth straight in Big Ten play. The Buckeyes, who now are 3-7 in the conference and 9-11 overall, had five players in double figures. Buckeye captain Dick Ricketts had 27, Andy Abjeych 18, Ron Sepic 17, Al Rowley 15 and Jim Shaffer 12.

Ohio U. last lost at home to the Loyola team which went on to take the NCAA title two seasons ago. They got revenge Monday night, breaking open a tight game in the second half behind Don Hill's offensive antics. Hill was instrumental as the Bobcats pulled away to a 12-point lead after a 41-41 half-time tie, and had to be called upon again to ice the game after Loyola closed the gap to 76-74. Hill finished with 25.

The Bobcats now are 16-6 for the season; Loyola is 11-13. Bowling Green's 114-93 victory set or tied three Falcon and one Mid-American Conference records—tying the most points ever scored by a Falcon team (114), breaking the most points scored by both teams in a Falcon game (207), and hitting a new high in field goals (50). The 50 field goals also is a new MAC high.

During the current season Mrs. Dietrich bowled a 286 for an all time high single game recorded in the Lancaster Bowling Assn. for a woman.

PENNY rolls in three different leagues in local competition and carries averages of 152, 154 and 157.

In team competition, Russ's Bar and Grill placed third in the tourney with a 2,363 scratch score and a 2,951 with handicap. Members of the team are Ethel Smith, Betty Connell, Joan Johnston, Mary Pabst and Janet Sturgeon.

Another local team finishing high in the competition was General Electric No. 1 with a 2,927 total including handicap. Members of that team were Dorothy Evans, Doris Inbody, Katy Brown, Etta Julian, Mary Pabst.

In the doubles event, Mildred Keller and Marge Olney tied for fourth with a 1,232 pin total with handicap included.

The team event was won by Glasco-Ettes. They rolled a 2,507 scratch series. With handicap added it was 2,981.

The doubles finalists were Mary Martha Boyer and Irene Widener with a 1,258 total including handicap.

Lowest twin double payoff in harness racing at Yonkers, N. Y., during 1964 was $76.10. Bill Gilmour drove the first and fourth winners.

Top-Ranked Michigan Faces Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan and Providence, each with an impressive season's mark, face stiff tests tonight in their efforts to maintain a high ranking in The Associated Press major-college basketball poll and both hope they make out better than Indiana's seventh-ranked Hoosiers.

Indiana held onto its spot despite a one-point loss to Michigan in double overtime last week, but the Hoosiers slipped again Monday night dropping an 82-70 decision to Purdue. Dave Schellhase led the Boilermakers with 32 points.

The loss eliminated Indiana, which has suffered three of its four losses this season on Monday nights, from the Big Ten race. Top-ranked Michigan, tackles No. 8 Minnesota in a key Big Ten test tonight.

Providence, the nation's only undefeated team and ranked No. 4, faces a tough hurdle at Philadelphia against Villanova tonight in another key game.

Michigan remained the solid leader in the latest balloting by a panel of 35 regional experts. However, a loss to the Gophers tonight not only would cost the Wolverines their spot atop the Big Ten but could boost UCLA into the top spot.

Michigan collected 17 votes for first place and 321 points for games through last Saturday. UCLA held second place with 280 points for games through last Saturday. UCLA held second place with 280 points followed by St. Joseph's, Pa., 258 points, and Providence, 234. St. Joseph's moved past the Friars into the third slot.

The only other ranked team to see action Monday was No. 9

Vanderbilt which eased past Georgia 89-72. John Ed Miller's 24 points led the Commodores who remained on top of the Southeastern Conference race.

In other major games Monday, Tennessee whacked Auburn 69-38, Wake Forest nipped Virginia, 74-72, Ohio State downed Michigan State 101-90, Ohio University defeated Chicago Loyola 84-76, Creighton took Marquette 78-68 and Utah State turned back Seattle 71-67.

The Top Ten, figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis, won't lose records through Saturday, Feb. 20 and total points:

|                          |     |
|--------------------------|-----|
| 1. Michigan 17-2         | 321 |

| 7. Indiana 16-3          | 114 |
| 8. Minnesota 16-3        | 106 |

Bunning Gets Fat Pact, But Jap Star Shuns Deal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jim Bunning hasn't felt better since last June 21. Jim Bouton Ralph Houk and CBS are one big happy family. Now, if Ford Frick could see eye to eye with Masonari Murakami.

Bunning, who pitched a perfect game for the Philadelphia Phillies eight months ago, signed a 1965 contract Monday that catapulted the 33-year-old right-hander into super-star salary status.

Bouton, young right-handed ace of the network-owned New York Yankees pitching staff who waged a brief but bitter salary feud with General Manager Houk last winter, also agreed to 1965 terms — at a solid pay boost.

But Murakami, the Japanese southpaw who finished last season with the San Francisco Giants, insisted he has no yen for either the American dollar or the National League.

Commissioner Frick has broken off relations with the Japanese leagues as a result of the Murakami contract dispute between the Giants and Japan's Nankai Hawks. Monday, the 20-year-old pitcher told Tokyo newsmen he intends to stay home.

"I want to remain here and play in Japan," Murakami said after conferring with Japanese Commissioner Yushi Uchimura.

The Giants claim they purchased his contract from Nankai for $10,000 and have his signature on a 1965 pact. The Hawks contend they loaned the youngster to the National League club for one year.

Bunning, who retired 27 New York Mets in order last June 21, recording the first perfect game in the NL in 84 years, said he was "very pleased" with his new contract. "You can say it's in the $50,000 to $60,000 bracket," he said after signing at the Phillies' Clearwater, Fla., spring camp.

Bunning reportedly received $35,000 in 1964, when he won 19 games after being acquired from Detroit in a winter deal and was named comeback player of the year.

Bouton, 25, an 18-game winner for the Yankees, and 2-0 in the World Series, signed for an estimated $29,000. He had been seeking a $12,500 raise to $30,000. Last year he held out for a signed reluctantly on March 11 after Houk threatened to dock him $10 for every day he missed spring training. He had a 21-7 record in 1963.

Wilt Shows D.C. Fans His Prowess

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wilt Chamberlain was an elongated, 15-year-old schoolboy in Philadelphia when the District of Columbia lost its National Basketball Association franchise in 1951.

Monday night the Big Dipper showed Washington fans what they've been missing. A crowd of 5,146 watched Chamberlain's 35 points paced the Philadelphia 76ers to a 122-112 victory over the Baltimore Bullets in the first NBA game in Washington since the Capitols went out of business 14 years ago.

In the only other game, the St. Louis Hawks whipped the Warriors 107-97 at San Francisco.

Denny McLain, bespectacled Detroit Tiger pitcher, tossed a no-hit game for Harlan, Ky., in his first professional game in 1962.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System served up two exceptionally fine special programs in succession Monday night.

The first was a 90-minute color production of "Cinderella," full of Rodgers and Hammerstein music, old-fashioned romance and charm. The second was a stimulating hour interview on the state of the world with Walter Lippman.

Lippman, a news analyst and columnist for many years was drawn out by intelligent questioning by Eric Sevareid. He touched on most of the disturbing subjects in our troubled world today, Viet Nam, China and the Soviet Union, and discussed the aims of our great society.

It was stimulating and provocative conversation the kind of cool and detached analysis one hears infrequently on television. Lippman's annual CBS talk is a great treat.

"Cinderella," a new production of the musical Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II wrote more than eight years ago, introduced two new young stars, Lesley Ann Warren, a talented youngster with a ballerina's delicate beauty, in the title role, and Stuart Damon, a handsome stalwart with a voice to match, as the prince.

The magic of the childhood classic was impeccably preserved.

There were tuneful songs with the typical Hammerstein touches — warm, optimistic philosophy in the lyrics. Highlight, of course, was the ball.

Another Nilsen report Monday on television viewing — for the two weeks ending Feb. 7 — showed the networks again in a virtual three-way tie. ABC and NBC each had a rating of 23.4, while CBS had 23.3.

The 10 most popular programs in order were Bonanza, Gomer Pyle, Bewitched, the Andy Griffith Show, the Lucy Show, the Red Skelton Show, My Three Sons, Peyton Place — Thursday night — the Fugitive and Combat.

Recommended tonight: "The Journals of Lewis and Clark," NBC, 10-11 EST — retracing the 1804 route of the famous explorers; "I, Leonardo da Vinci," ABC, 10-11 — first of this season's programs in the "Saga of Western Man" series.

Dartmouth junior Roy Benson, 23, who coached at the Alameda, Calif., Coast Guard base after leaving school in 1960, will captain the Dartmouth cross-country team next season.

Your Income Tax

Question, Answer Column

EDITORS NOTE: This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the district office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service. It is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Which is the easiest tax form for me to use?

A — The simplest tax form is card form 1040A. However, not all people can use it and it would not be to the advantage of some others to use it.

Generally speaking, form 1040A cannot be used if: deductions are itemized; income is $10,000 or over; more than $200 of income is not subject to withholding; special tax status or tax credits are claimed.

The instruction booklet accompanying Form 1040 discusses which form is best for you in some detail. It is available at no charge at all Internal Revenue offices as well as in some banks and post offices.

Q — I understand that the new tax law has eliminated some low-income people from the tax rolls. Over what income level must a federal income tax now be paid?

A — Under the new law, taxpayers may now have income up to $900 before they become liable for payment of federal income taxes. However, if a taxpayer has self-employment income of $400 or more, he must also file a return and pay the self-employment tax.

If the taxpayer has income under $900 but $600 and over, he must nevertheless file a return. This is particularly important to the taxpayer who has had taxes withheld. A return is necessary to obtain a refund.

Q — Through part-time and summer work my son earned over $900 last year. Does he have to file a return and can I claim him as a dependent since he is a student getting most of his support from me?

A — Your son must file a return if he earned $600 or more. He may be claimed as your dependent if he is under 19 or is a student and you furnish more than half his support.

Q — Where can I find out which state and local taxes are no longer deductible on my federal tax return?

A — They are listed in the instruction booklet accompanying the 1040 tax forms. Briefly, deductions are generally not allowed for: automobile tags, drivers licenses, state and local sales taxes specifically on alcoholic beverages, tobacco and certain miscellaneous taxes. State income taxes, general sales taxes, state gasoline taxes and real estate taxes are deductible.

Q — I'm going to get some outside help for this year's tax return. How can I be sure the man I get to help me is reliable?

A — The overwhelming majority of tax advisers are competent and honest. To avoid the few who are not, here are some things to look for: a void the adviser who "guarantees" refunds; be on guard if he suggests that the refund check be sent to his address; don't sign a blank tax form; don't sign a form prepared in pencil, the figures could easily be changed, ask the adviser to sign the return he has prepared.

Keep in mind that you, the taxpayer, are legally responsible for the contents of your tax return no matter who prepared it.

Q — We receive several hundred dollars in dividends a year. I know there have been some changes in the tax law. Are these dividends still taxable?

A — Yes, dividends are still taxable. Changes have been made however that will benefit low and middle income taxpayers.

Under the new law, individuals may now receive up to $100 in dividends of a taxable domestic corporation before they become taxable. The previous limit was $50. For married couples where both have dividends, each may receive up to $100 in qualified dividends tax-free.

Q — Has there been any change in the dividend credit provision?

A — Yes. The dividend credit is reduced from 4 percent to 2 percent for 1964 and to zero for 1965. The dividend credit provision allows a taxpayer to deduct a percentage of his dividend income from his tax liability.

For 1964 taxpayer may claim a credit against their tax of 2 percent of the amount of qualifying dividends they receive over the exclusion with certain limitations.

Q — Before I retired last year my boss told me to look into the special benefits for those over 65 in the new tax law. What are they?

A — There are several specific benefits in addition to the lower rate that will cut tax bills for all taxpayers. For the taxpayer 65 or over, the 1964 law provides an extra $100 on the minimum standard deduction removal of the one percent floor on the deduction of medicine and drug expenses; tax free treatment in many cases for gains from the sale of a home for $20,000 or less and reduced taxation on gains from sales over that amount; broadened coverage on retirement income credit.

These and other benefits are explained in detail in the instruction book at a greater length in "Your Federal Income Tax."
